

JRTI's Massage Therapy Program

Informed Consent

I have received, read and understand the policies and procedures of James Rumsey Technical Institutes Massage Therapy Student Lab and Clinic.

The student therapist as informed me of her/his qualifications, the kind of massage services to be provided, the benefits, risks and the goals of the session that we have agreed upon.

I understand that I retain the right to withdraw my consent at any time during any session.

I also understand that the student massage therapist retains the right to withdraw from providing the massage service if any inappropriate action is perceived, verbalized, felt, or witnessed by fellow students or instructor.

I understand further that student therapists are promoting relaxation and circulation, and relief from stress, muscle tension, spasms and related pain. I understand that massage therapy is not a substitute for medications or medical treatment and that the student massage therapist does not diagnose illness, prescribe medical treatment, or perform spinal manipulations.

I have informed the therapist of my medical and physical condition and of medications I use, and I agree to update the therapist of any changes in my health profile. I release the therapist of any liability if I fail to do so.

If I experience any discomfort or pain during the session that does agree with the treatment plan, I will inform the therapist so adjustments can be made to the procedure.
